On behalf of its clients, Lerman Senter carefully monitors relevant or noteworthy regulatory, legislative and judicial developments. Because our regulatory practice is well integrated with our legislative and litigation practice, the firm is fully equipped to devise coordinated and innovative regulatory, legislative and litigation strategies in response to particular problems or issues facing our clients. Importantly, our attorneys are well respected throughout various levels of government - from presidential appointees to support staff. We have addressed a diverse range of issues on behalf of clients with the FCC, NTIA, U.S. Department of Justice, congressional leaders, congressional committees, subcommittees and caucus members in the House of Representatives and the Senate, and the White House, to name a few.
